Plamondon Federated Co-op Sponsors "Artists In Aprons"

PLAMONDON — An enthusiastic reception was given the ideas and skills of the Co-op Demonstrator of the "Artists in Aprons" demonstration, given November 24 at the Community Hall, which was sponsored by the Plamondon Federated Co-op.

Kinsmen Club At Athabasca To Sponsor Talent Search

Search for Talent is returning to Athabasca under sponsorship of the Athabasca Kinsmen Club, according to officials of the Kinsmen. The show, now in its 16th year of operation, will appear at the Athabasca Memorial Hall on Saturday, January 12, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

Contestants wishing to enter in any one of the four competitions are urged to register without delay at Schinkinger & Son's Store. Details of the competitions and further instruction will be provided there.

Search for Talent is now in its sixteenth year under the point sponsorship of the Associated Canadian Travellers and Radio Station CFRN. Alberta Crippled Children's Fund, Proceeds go to the A.C.T. Northern which provides financial assistance for needy crippled children in this area.

This is a non-overlapping service in the form of direct payments for medical, surgical and hospital care. More than 1.500 unfortunates have been assisted in this manner in the past fifteen years. More than $500,000. has been raised by the Travellers and more than half of this amount has come from the Search for Talent shows.

Several major changes have been made in the talent presentations this year. Contestants now compete in four divisions. The Primary Competition leads to the Sunwapta Scholarship. Webber Bros. Agencies provide trophies for each first and second place winner in this competition.

The Showmanship Competition features group performers with Northwestern Utilities Ltd. providing the trophies at each show.

The Country and Western Competiton is proving very popular. Eaton's of Canada, Canadian Coachways and other Edmonton business firms provide the trophies for this competition. The Junior Competition features contestants aged eight to twelve inclusive. The Harmony Kids School of Music provides trophies to winners in this event.

Spotlight parade, a feature of previous years, has been discontinued, and guest performers, as well as local entertainers, are now featured in the interim periods between competitions. In this manner the evening's entertainmen is a well-balanced program instead of two separate programs as in the past.

Jack Benbow, stage director of CFRN-T.V. is producer and Tony Biamonte is Master of Ceremonies. Other guest stars feature Bill Bogart, Maureen Jackson, Molly and Leon Kvittem and Bab Lang. Members of the A.C.T. and their wives are in charge of each show.

Home, School Association Studies Advisory Board

HYLO — The first meeting of this term of the Hylo Home and School Association was held on Thursday, November 22 in the Hylo School.

The meeting began with the showing of two interesting films on 'Carpenters of the Forest' and 'Ripple Rock'. Then Mrs. Olga Meardi, chairman distributed a brochure "The Choice is Yours" which depicts the origin of the Advisory Board on Objectionable Publication. This Advisory Board has attempted to achieve a two fold purpose: First, to devise an effective method of preventing obscene pornographic and sadistic magazines, comic books and tabloids from being offered for sale in the newstands throughout the province. Secondly, to foster a public awareness of the danger inherent in permitting young people to read unwholesome material.

The parents, too, have a responsibility and they certainly should be concerned about knowing what their children read. They should ensure that their children are given the opportunity of reading good literature which is readily available from the school or public library. Parents do consider it necessary to safeguard the physical well being of their children so is it not natural that the mind which controls the body should be given even greater protection? Members of the Advisory Board on Objectionable Publications are pleased to make themselves available to speak to any interested group of citizens concerning this problem.

It was decided that the meetings this year would be held the third Wednesday of every month and the next meeting is scheduled for December 19.

The cost of moving the skating rink to the school grounds was $172 and the balance to pay is $47, reported Treasurer, Richard Meardi.

Mrs. M. Coughlin, from Ellscott is the new regional director.

Roderick Cherkas, Lac la Biche, is the coordinator of films. At a cost of $15 per year the Home and School could have available all the educational films they wish.

There were 25 members enrolled during the evening.

Election of officers took place with Ray Meardi elected as president; Julius Keehn was re-elected vice-president; Mrs. Paul Poholski, secretary, and Paul Poholski, treasurer by acclamation Mrs. N. Zalewsky received a unanimous vote for publicity convener.

Volunteers for the program committee were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Soroka; Mrs. William Lozinski, Mrs. William Sawchuk; Mrs. Mel Rayment; lunch committee, Mrs. Carl Keehn, Mrs. Bill Owchar, Mrs. Pete Warren and Mrs. J. Rayment.

Fund raising committee, Mrs. Oliver Pivin, Mrs. Bruno Meardi, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meardi and Melvin Rayment.

Mrs. O. Pivin and Mrs. E. Keehn will provide entertainment for the December meeting.

In conclusion coffee and cookies were served after which a film on Ferries, Tankers and Caviar was shown. More films were to be shown on the folowing Wednesday, November 28.

No matter what you may think Parliament is a great institution.

School Texts Under Dispute At Social Credit Convention

A charge that high school social studies texts are biased came under dispute last week when a resolution was presented to the Social Credit Convention in Edmonton calling for a re-examination of texts. The resolution stated that an investigation should be made because some texts contain, "distorted economics and alien in doctrination".

Delegates, however, defeated the resolution after Education Minister A. O. Aalborg took exception to it.

But while educators insisted social studies texts are not biased, the chairman of the Edmonton Public School Board said the charge should not be completely overlooked.

Eric Duggan said if there is any possibility of truth in the resolution, it should be investigated by the department of education.

Mr. Duggan pointed out that he is not conversant with the content of the textbooks, but added: "The mere fact that the resolution came up might make it worthy of investigation."

What did the educators have to say?

Dr. Seymour Trieger, associate professor of education, University of Alberta: "This type of hunting for goblins in books is common. Reputable people examine them. They are not biased in the way the Social Credit people suggest."

H. G. Ward, principal Bonnie Doon complaints from parents about any political, economic or social-economic bias."

Ernie Ingram, executive assistant, high school "We have received no Alberta Teachers Association: "We don't hold any credence with this type of accusation. Books are selected very carefully by teachers, department and university officials."

Duncan Innes, principal Strathcona high school: "To the best of my knowledge, there is nothing of the sort in our textbooks. No teachers have said this is true and they are of many different political opinions."

George Conquest, assistant superintendent, Edmonton Public School board: "A careful examinatin of textbooks is made, not by one person, but by a committee."

L. C. Mix, a member of the senior high school social studies sub-committee: "Texts contain nothing that would be detrimental to good citizenship. If we find anything contrary to what we hold true, we turn the book down. We have turned down a number of books on very minor grounds."

Those who expect to hear the truth during a political campaign evidently know little about campaigns.
